

Upcoming Television Shows Feature MWC Students

If you're watching television in the next few weeks and catch sight of some familiar settings, don't be surprised. Two widely divergent television shows, one an NBC documentary and the other a feature show on Virginia educational television, have been prepared for airing and both involve Mary Washington College.

An NBC news documentary crew was on campus in January to film student reaction to a lecture on wife-beating by visiting speaker Stewart O'Nealia, a Maryland attorney and judge who is considered a specialist in handling cases of abuse. Mrs. O'Nealia's talk, which detailed "the widespread but usually unreported" problem of marital abuse, was filmed in its entirety by an NBC crew under the overall direction of Clare Crawford, a Washington-based reporter and producer who is also an editor for "People" magazine.

A half-hour question-and-answer session with MWC students was also filmed for possible use in the "Battered Wives" feature slated to be shown on the March 6 edition of late-night NBC "Weekend" series. The taping at MWC concluded more than 15 hours of filming for the documentary.

Also in January, a half-hour show about Mary Washington College was taped at WCVE-TV in Richmond for broadcast February 24 on the station's "College Night" series. The show features two students and a recent graduate discussing the entire spectrum of life at the College today. Photographs of the campus and various student activities accompany the discussion.

Involved in the program are: Vicki Geis, a junior from Cockeysville, Maryland; Scott Sharer, a junior from Warrenton, Virginia; and Susie Bond, a 1973 graduate who is now an admissions counselor for the College.

The program is slated to be aired in Virginia over WCVE-TV (Channel 23) at 8:00 p.m. on February 24.

Phi Beta Kappa Taps 27 Students, 2 Alumni

Two alumni, 21 seniors and six juniors at Mary Washington College have been selected for membership in the Kappa of Virginia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the nation's oldest and most prestigious academic honorary society.

The nominations were made this month by members in facultate to recognize current students for outstanding academic achievement at MWC and to honor alumni who have distinguished themselves in the humane sciences and letters.

Among the MWC students nominated to the Kappa of Virginia Chapter are the first three men to be selected to Phi Beta Kappa at Mary Washington College. Men were first admitted to the College on a regular basis in 1970.

The alumni honored were Norma Ann Kinsel, a 1949 graduate who is a research biologist for Gulf Research and Development, and Wendy Joan Shadwell, a 1963 graduate who is currently Curator of Prints for the New York Historical Society.

Dr. Kinsel, who holds a masters degree and doctorate from the University of Pittsburgh, is a specialist in yeast chemistry, microbiology and fuels. A former microbiologist and Fellow at the Mellon Institute, she is the author of numerous articles for professional and scientific journals. A member of Sigma Xi, the American Society for Microbiology and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, Dr. Kinsel has been listed in American Men and Women of Science and has been with Gulf Research since 1969.

Miss Shadwell, who is considered a leading authority on American prints, is the author of American Printing, the First 150 Years and scores of articles in magazines and periodicals. The former Curator of William J. Middendorf Collection of American Prints, she has been associated since 1971 with the New York Historical Society, working as an editorial assistant and special consultant on collection catalogues before assuming her post as Curator of Prints in 1974.

Mary Washington College seniors nominated to Phi Beta Kappa this year are: Deborah Regina Allan of McLean, Va.; Katherine Anne Bortz of Woodford, Va.; Gail Josephine Bryant of Chesapeake, Va.; Gwendolyn Veda Chenault of Falmouth, Va.; Drucilla Graves Davis of Washington, Va.; Maria del Carmen Diaz of Rio Piedra, Puerto Rico; Jean Louise Ellis of Rosemont, Pa.; John Grafton Ellis of Fredericksburg, Va.; Patricia Agnes Hall of Gloucester, Va.; Martha Ellen Hawes of Buena Vista, Va.; Beverly Carol Hudnall of Heathsville, Va.; Cynthia Jo Ingham of Lorton, Va.; Mary Portia Jones of Falls Church, Va.; Judith Lynn Kercher of Chatsworth, N.J.; Mary Jane Long of Fairfax, Va.; Glenn Paige Markwith of Colonial Beach, Va.; Karen Edith Miller of Alexandria, Va.; Margaret Denny Nichols of Lexington, Va.; Margaret Ellen Walter of Springfield, Va.; Barbara Conner Wilkinson of Petersburg, Va.; and Donald Ray Wolthus of Kalamazoo, Mich.

Juniors tapped to the Kappa of Virginia Chapter were: Bonita Faye Habron of Mechanicsville, Va.; Patricia Kay Jagers of Vienna, Va.; Faith Marie Lynch of Springfield, Va.; Teresa Ann Mulloy of Vienna, Va.; Mary Anne Pierce Myers of Fredericksburg, Va.; and Pamela Sue Roberts of Harrisonburg, Va.

Bicentennial Programs Continued This Semester

Bicentennial programs at Mary Washington College are increasing in number and scope as the nation approaches the 200th anniversary of declaring its independence.

Concerts of colonial-era music, lectures on American theater from the 17th Century to the present and weekly Bicentennial lectures on lifestyles and history of the Revolutionary period are among the varied public offerings of the College during the present semester. Mary Washington College has already been designated as an official Bicentennial Campus by the American Revolutionary Bicentennial Administration on the strength of its programs dealing with the Bicentennial.

Of special note during the semester will be the premiere performances of a play, Belvidera, which will portray personalities and occurrences in colonial Fredericksburg. Based on the diaries of John Harrower, a Scottish tutor at Belvidera plantation, the play will be written and directed by Roger Kenwin, Professor and Chairman of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Dance. The production, sponsored in part by the Fredericksburg Bicentennial Commission, will open a five-day run in Klein Memorial Theater on April 21 as one of the regular MWC student theater productions.

Music of the colonial period has been featured in a number of concerts so far this semester in performances by students, faculty and visiting artists. Upcoming major musical tributes to the Bicentennial include a performance by The Fredericksburg Singers in Ann Carter Lee Hall on February 29, and performances by the College-Community Orchestra on March 26 and April 14 in George Washington Auditorium. Each of these performances is open to the public without charge.

The public Bicentennial Lecture Series which proved to be so popular during the first semester is being continued with programs every Tuesday night at 8:00 p.m. in Combs Science Hall. While the first semester lectures dealt primarily with the broad historical aspects of the Revolution, this series is focusing on selected topics and lifestyles of the colonies. Included in the remaining Bicentennial Lectures will be: The British View of the American Revolution, with Dr. Almont Lindsey on February 24; Drugs in Colonial America as Seen through Hugh Mercer's Apothecary Shop, with Dr. Mary Pinschmidt on March 2; and Medicine in Revolutionary Virginia, with Dr. Gordon Jones on March 23.

Interviews Underway For Regional Scholars

Several hundred outstanding high school seniors in Virginia and surrounding regions are being interviewed this month by alumni committees charged with screening applicants for the coveted Regional Scholarships to Mary Washington College.

The interview process, which is involving 68 alumni on thirteen regional committees, is one of the final steps in the selection of those 25 students who will join next year's MWC freshman class as Regional Scholars.

Those chosen this year for the special scholarships - which are worth $1,000 per year for each student - will join the 50 students already on campus who were selected during the program's first two years of operation.

In the Regional Scholarship Program, academically superior students are nominated to the College by their high schools and are interviewed in person by alumni committees in their area before final selection is made. A total of 25 Regional Scholars are chosen each year, with two awards made in each of Virginia's ten Congressional Districts and five from out-of-state regions.

Last year's group of Regional Scholars, selected from among 218 nominees, included 23 students who graduated in the top 6% of their high school class. Of the group, five had been valedictorians and one had been salutatorian.

This year's group "will be just as good, if not better," according to G. Forrest Dickinson, Assistant Dean of Admissions and Financial Aid and Coordinator of the Regional Scholarship Program. He said the three year old program is becoming better known in high schools, leading to more student interest and an increasing number of nominations.

"With a bigger pool of nominees, which is expected to be about 330 this year, competition for the scholarships becomes even more selective," Dickinson said. The scholarship, he pointed out, is designed to recognize the top proven high school scholars from the various geographical regions and get them involved in the liberal arts and sciences program at the College. "They have the honor of being a Regional Scholar and the opportunity to take advantage of the College's strong academic program. In turn, the very presence of these outstanding students cannot help but strengthen MWC's program even more."

One significant point, Dickinson noted, is that beginning in the Fall of 1977, one hundred Regional Scholars - 25 in each of the four classes - would be on campus every year, comprising 5% of the entire student body at the College. This fact, Dickinson said, "insures the future of Mary Washington College as a leading undergraduate college of the liberal arts and sciences."

The overall program, which was begun in 1973, was funded by an anonymous donor.

Alumni Association News

Nominees Needed For Board of Visitors

We need your suggestions for potential nominees to the Mary Washington College Board of Visitors. Members of the Board are responsible for seeing to the effective government of the College. Your Alumni Association maintains a current list of appropriate persons whose names might be submitted to the Governor of Virginia for appointment to the Board of Visitors as vacancies occur.

The twelve member Board must have at least six members who are alumni of the College. (At present, we are proud to have eight alumni who are serving.) Of the membership, no more than three may be non-residents of Virginia.

You can help us by sending the names of alumni you believe are qualified to serve Mary Washington in this capacity. Developing a "pool" of possible appointees is an ongoing responsibility of the Alumni Association. You may send suggested names to the Committee for Nominations to the Board of Visitors, Box 1315 College Station, Fredericksburg, Va. 22401. Please include the name and address, congressional district in which the person lives, and a brief description of the person's background as it relates to qualifications for service as a Board member. The Alumni Association welcomes your suggestions.

Expanded Homecoming Slated April 9-11

Homecoming, traditionally the time for alumni to gather on campus for revelry and reacquainting, is being expanded this year.

The festivities will be centered around "The way we were - The way we are" and will begin Friday, April 9 with a Bicentennial Concert featuring alumni performing artists.

Saturday morning, in addition to the annual Association meeting and presentation of the 1978 Distinguished Alumnus Award, Aileen Hirschman Belford '53, attorney and judge from Massachusetts and the 1966 recipient of the Distinguished Alumna Award, will address alumni as keynote speaker.

After a luncheon at Belmont, estate of the late artist Gari Melchers, there will be class meetings, a Golden Club meeting, the Brompton open house and a tour of Fredericksburg.

For the husbands we've added a full weekend of special programs. There will be tennis, volleyball, handball and a 9-hole golf tournament. The golf tournament will be played at the Sheraton Motor Inn's Shannon Green, a challenging par 72 championship course. Reservation information will be included in the Homecoming Brochure. Following the tournament, the Association invites all husbands to the "C" Shoppe for a "Breu and Bull" session.

There is time allotted from 5-6:30 p.m. for individual class parties and then a candlelighted Seabeck Dining Hall awaits you for the Homecoming Banquet. Golf awards and reunion class awards will be given at the Banquet. The concluding event will be the "Spring Formal" in the Ballroom of Ann Carter Lee Hall from 9-midnight. The "Spring Formal" is a benefit fund for the Alumni Scholarship Fund.

Frances Wishner, Homecoming Chairman, and a very enthusiastic committee hope you are making plans now to be on campus for Homecoming '76.

Travel Notes

It's not too late to reserve space on the Alumni Association's Spring Fling trip to the Canary Islands, April 15 - 23. Cost per person of this deluxe all-inclusive vacation is $389.00.

Upcoming trips include summer family vacations to Hawaii, July 29 - August 5, and a two-week trip to Munich, Vienna and Budapest, July 30 - August 14. Details on these summer vacation packages will be reaching you soon.

Next fall, specifically November 31, spend Thanksgiving with your family in Amsterdam. Have Thanksgiving dinner overlooking the harbor from which the pilgrim fathers sailed over 200 years ago. Truly a trip in America's history - what better way to view the Bicentennial than from the place it all began.

Alumni Board Election

Members of the Alumni Association will be voting in March for President Elect and Fourth Vice President of the Association. The Nomination and Election Committee, chaired by Helen Starnell Wills '42, has placed in nomination the following:

Sylvia McJilton Woodcock '61, for President Elect
Jean DeShazo Flemer '44, for Fourth Vice President in charge of classes

The candidates were selected from nominees sent by chapters, class agents and individual alumni. The single-stage ballot will be sent to all alumni for whom the Alumni Office has current addresses. The ballot will contain space for write-in candidates. Those elected will serve terms of two years commencing July 1, 1976.

Duties of the offices are as follows:

President Elect—
"He shall study the workings of the Association in order to more effectively carry out his future duties as President. He shall assume the responsibilities of the presidency upon the request, resignation or incapacitation of the President. He shall also assume chairmanship of the Nomination and Election Committee for the duration of his term."

Fourth Vice President—
"He shall be responsible for stimulating, supporting and coordinating the work of class agents, supplying counsel and assistance to the work of class agents and representing the class viewpoint on the Board. He shall appoint his own committee."

Procedures for nominations and elections are recommended by Nomination and Election Committee and are voted upon by the Board of Directors.

For your consideration, we are including in this issue information on the candidates. Please keep this issue of MWC Today for reference. Detailed information on the candidates will not be repeated on the ballot.

Members of the Nomination and Election Committee are enthusiastic about the candidates. Each was selected for her understanding of the Association and its programs, past involvement with the College and Alumni Association, sincere willingness to serve, achievements and interests which especially relate to the position.

The Candidates

Sylvia McJilton Woodcock '61 believes that alumni need to be better informed of the valuable work and activities of the Alumni Association. "Through better communication, I feel that greater participation will be achieved. The College desperately needs and deserves the support of its alumni," she says.

Sylvia, husband, Stuart, and children Kathy, Ed and Meredith, live in Williamsburg. As Second Vice President, 1974-75, of the Alumni Association, Sylvia was responsible for planning a most successful Homecoming '75. She worked on the committee for President Prince Woodard's inauguration. She is a member of the Peninsula Alumni Chapter and has served on her Congressional district's Regional Scholarship Selection Committee since the program's inception.

In addition to her alumni activities, Sylvia serves as a Board of Directors member of the Heritage Girl Scout Council, is a Director of Tidewater District Virginia Federation of Garden Clubs, is a Cub Scout den mother, secretary of the Administrative Board of the Williamsburg United Methodist Church, and is current chairman of the Greater Williamsburg Area Heart Association Fund Drive.

For these and her many other accomplishments, she was selected for inclusion in the 1975 "Who's Who in Virginia."

Sylvia's husband is a production manager for Dow Badische Co., in Williamsburg.

Jean DeShazo Flemer '44 is a teacher and department head for business education at John Kennedy High School in Richmond. Her goals as Fourth Vice President for Classes will be to coordinate the work of class agents; continue with annual class agent workshops; to support the three major areas that President Prince Woodard has challenged alumni to do and to continue to update class files.

Jean has served as a class agent for her class and is a member of the Richmond Alumni Chapter. She is a member of the Richmond Education Assoc.; Virginia Education Assoc.; Virginia Business Education Assoc.; Virginia Vocational Assoc.; American Vocational Assoc.; and National Business Education Assoc. She also is a member of Old Dominion Woman's Club and Richmond Pageants, Inc.

Husband, John, is an engineer with Reynolds Metals. Jean and John have four children: John Jr., 23; Diane, 22; Virginia, 18; and Joan, 16.

Jean holds the M.S. in Business Education from VPI & SU.

Girls, do write and tell us about yourselves. We can help our Alumni Association by contributions to the Fund for 1976. Let's have a greater participation.

On September 20th, Elsie Wood Rice represented the Class Agent at a workshop meeting for agents and chapter presidents. She makes a fine intermediary and has given me much information. I am so thankful for her services.

Edna Gibbs Hunter wrote recently. She is Florida-bound for the winter with her daughter and family. He has lost by death a sister and a favorite nephew this year. Let's remember Edna in thoughts and prayers.

Interesting to me was news of Ann Perinichief Almar '67, with whom I was associated when she was Alumnae Director. Ann later entered law school with William and Mary and now is an assistant Commonwealth attorney in Fredericksburg.

Elsie Rice's great-grandson, Troy, won second place in his age group in the Karate Tournament on August 16th at MWC gym.

Elizabeth Ninde Bryan is fine and active. Her two sons and daughter with families are all together for Thanksgiving holiday. Bealmer Linthicum Masters is a Physician's Nursing Home, 1615 Grove Ave., Richmond, Va. Brighten up her day with a card.

A very interesting letter came from Margaret Sayre because. Margaret seems to have unlimited energy and continues her teaching of conversational English, early American history and U. S. Government, preparing students for citizenship examinations. In one of her classes she has a Cambodian mother with 3 daughters, 6 women from Thailand, a Philippine bride and some Vietnamese refugees. She is also teaching a large group of women sponsored by the ladies of Emmanuel Episcopal Church—a home mission project. I can't tell in detail all of her interests and work except to say "she is a busy person."

Charlotte Rice Weymouth wrote of her 9 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. Eldest grandson was graduated from law school in June and joined his father's law firm. Granddaughter, Laurie Lee Haynes, daughter of Constance Pusey Haynes '44, was graduated from University of Texas last June.

Send some news. I depend on you to keep the class of '28 alive in the current events.

I see Louise Relford Lovell and Edna Mae Johnson often. They are active in the Tidewater Alumni Chapter. They keep young and on the go, visiting their children and grandchildren.

Have talked with Groce Mason DuVal often, but haven't seen her because she has an invalid father at home, and can't go out very much.

I have a new granddaughter, Susan Ashley, born October 12.

Start thinking about our Golden Anniversary which soon will be here. Let me have suggestions for celebrating it.

Hope 1976 will be a very happy year for you; and, please, keep MWC ever present in your minds and hearts.

1976 will be a banner year in more ways than one. Not only is our country 200 years old, but the class of '53, which is slightly younger, is going to get rolling again. Gen Suitt Lasker and I have just returned from three years in Europe. She, with her Army family, and I, with my Marine. Gen's older daughter, Polly, is a sophomore at MWC this year. My two boys will be in Lexington, Va., next year. Stuart will be a senior at VMI, Mark, a freshman at Washington and Lee. My MWC roommate, Ada Dodrill Cowan continues her interest in the dance and lives in Ann Arbor, Mich., with her university instructor/administrator husband.

Anna and I wish all of you a happy and healthy new year.

One of my New Year's resolutions is to drop at least two notes a month to you all. Since we are not keeping in touch very well, this will be my effort to reach you and I hope that you'll respond.

"The Spinning Wheel" is the name of the shop that Jean Byrd Steelman, who now lives in Accomac, Va., has opened in Onley, Va. Sounds like lots of fun as well as work. Would this be antiques and crafts? Stop by and see her.

Another of our classmates who is busy outside of home and family is Sue Bedell Albee Jr. Sue is a sales associate with Century 21—George F. Kettle, Inc., a Vienna, Va., real estate firm. She received her graduate realtors designation at U.Va. Her husband, Tom, is a '54 graduate of U.S.N.A. and they have 4 children: a son Rick, freshman at VPI, Ann, 16, Steve, 13 and Chris, 8. Sue still continues to be active in Navy relief work.

A real professional from our class is Mildred Corum Campbell (Mullia) who is a specialist in cardio-vascular nursing. She trained at the Heart Institute at Methodist Hospital in Houston, Texas, in 1965 and designed and oversaw construction and beginnings of operations of Arizona Heart Institute in Phoenix, Arizona. Husband, Stuart, is the executive vice president of Operations, Ethicon, Inc., in Somerville, N.J. They now live in Plainville, N.J.

I was being very energetic and climbing Molly's Knob, a rather high mountain at Hungry Mother State Park, Marion, Va., when I met a mutual acquaintance of Sally Hanger Moravitz. Sally and dance surely will always go together. She earned her M.A. in dance education at George Washington University in '73. Presently she is dance chairman of Fairfax Co. Council of Arts, chairman of a Multi-Arts program for children with learning disabilities at Washington Irving Inst., is a part-time instructor of modern dance for adults and teens, creative dance for children and directs her own dance group. She has a home full of men—two boys age 13, a 10 year old son and a husband, Fran, who is Deputy Director of Appalachian Regional Commission.

Hermie Gross Fox and Kerry have moved to Fullerton, Ca., where Kerry has accepted the position of City Attorney. They miss San Diego but are still close enough to see Judi Smith Hermonson and Dave. Hermie's new address is 1830 Mariposa Lane, Fullerton, Ca., 92633. Hermie writes that Barbara Kowalsky ("Sis") was married to Price Deal Heppie in March of '74. Their new address is 388 West Chelsea Circle, Newton Square, Pa., 19073.

Joan Fleitmeier Meyer and Bill have finally returned to the U. S. A. after 12 years abroad with Esso. Their last assignment was in Karachi, Pakistan. They've settled in Houston and Bill's new assignment is in the Corporate Headquarters of Esso Eastern, Inc.

Perry and I are back in Washington again after a wonderful one year tour at the Naval Academy. It was great to be back on the East Coast again, if only briefly. One of my biggest thrills was meeting Patsy Hubbard Johnson, Anne Cupps Robertson, Darlene Grove McNelis and Barbara Mead Heishman for lunch. We had our own mini-reunion and talked the afternoon away! Patsy and I were roommates and hadn't seen each other for 15 years so we had a lot to catch up on. Anne and Robbie were in the middle of another move to Virginia Beach.

Jane Tucker Broadbooks and family are settled in Asheville. They are very pleased with a new home for Jane, new job for John, new school for Jon Karl but, best of all, a new member of the family—eight-year old Joseph Anthony. Everyone is happy and on the go!

Ann Brooks Papadatos and family had one of their best trips to Greece this past summer. Anastasia enters 5th and Gregory 8th grade this year. Ann is busy with PTA, room mother duties and other special school projects.

Audrey Dubetsky Doyle hopes her family will be moving to warmer climate soon, though the children really enjoy ice skating.

Gwen Ellis Perkins and family returned to Waterford, Conn., in September. Bob arrived in November. Didn't take long to readjust to their house and neighbors. Deborah, Robert, John and Mary are pursuing typical activities.

All is fine in Mobile. Virginia has Edna and Tom almost organized! Looking forward to the New Year! Happy times to all!

Julia "Penny" Whecroft Waters decided to go back to school for her degree. She was unsure in which direction to go, so the first semester was spent in an excellent course called "Focus on Choice for Women." Her direction now seems to be the health services.

Jean Mann Berkeley has made it with flying colors through the first year with twins Carter and Campbell. They have been a handful, but also double the pleasure.

From the Virginia Beach area comes news of several classmates. Linda Chormack Barrett and Michael have been painting and papering their way through their house. The guest room there will be turned into a nursery before long for Meredith's new sister or brother. Linda was delighted to discover Pam Outchfield and her husband and children live just a few doors away. We saw Jane Harrison Garriott, husband, Mike, and daughter, Elizabeth, on our last visit to Linda's. They are anxiously awaiting the arrival of their second child. Neiron "Puck" Puckett Smidow and her family are not actually residents of the beach, but more and more time is being spent at their "hide-away" there whenever Trig can get away from his dental practice in Richmond.

Barbara Price Wallace wrote of her husband, Luitpold's, international honor. To start off with myself, Sally Reichner Mayar, I have not been up to much besides travelling, (Spain, Italy, Tunisia) and gardening, so we have lots of vegetables for our long winter ahead.

Brenda Brittain Miller and Art are now the proud parents of a baby girl, Jennifer Grace, born in C'ville on May 23. Art received a promotion within State Farm Insurance Co., and Brenda is taking care of Jennie.

Shelley Cooper Golden has decided to work part-time while Sammy, 4, is in nursery school. Bruce is a finance manager for a Chevrolet dealership in Wilmington, Del., and really enjoys his job.

Flash Fletcher Foster and Steve have been transferred to Quantico. That's quite a change from Hawaii, isn't it?

Non Youngren Hunt and Steve have moved near Atlanta to Clarkville, Ga. I received a fantastic letter from Susan Harder who is very busy doing lots! Susan is managing the Light Gallery in New York and represents a great deal of photographic artists all over the country, which entails a lot of travelling to visit private collectors, museums and other dealers. Susan is also teaching at Cooper Union in N.Y.C. and is still involved in research and hopes to do some publishing.

Dear Friends,

I was able to see some alumni at my wedding, November 22, 1975, in Hampton. From them I hear Marilyn Miller Zick has begun studies for a nursing career. Jackie Rascoe Mason is teaching in Williamsburg while husband, Jud, attends W & M. Pat Kincaid is working in her hometown in N. J. while Susan Jefferson Henley has a great job at the Blood Bank in Raleigh. Mary Beth Jones continues her medical studies at P. M. C. (Pennsylvania Medical College). I heard from Patty Rhodes who is touring Europe. She was due to return for Christmas - the economic conditions of England, where she was working, are terrible. Connie Lynn Rollins and husband, Jerry, are still in Charlottesville. Also there for my mini-"reunion" were Lisa Kirkwood Spay, Nancy McKinney, Susan Sandelin '76, Ann Batten, and Bev Hayes.

I received a note from Susan McDonald '75, who is teaching Spanish in Chesapeake and living in Va. B. She writes news of some '75 graduates: Carole Merader is living at home, teaching Spanish in Loudoun Co., Va., and is engaged to be married June 16. Merle Howell Marsh was married in June and is now working for a surgical supplies company in Richmond. Carol Kerney Peal was married in July and now lives in Charleston, S. C., with her husband (at least six months out of the year). Hope Rudinger, Sue Lapierre, and Yvonne Puryear are teaching elementary school near Fredericksburg. Peggy Unkle moved to Atlanta shortly after graduation where she is working for the IRS. Jane Roark is attending Eastern Va. Medical and lives in Norfolk. Vickie Scarborough is also attending medical school in Tennessee.

Karen Barley is teaching 8th grade math in Dade Co., Fla., and has begun planning her July wedding. Bridget Binko is in her 2nd year of full-time graduate work at S. U. N. Y. (Buffalo) and will receive the M. A. in microbiology in June. Amy Harter married Clarence P. Hathaway, III, in August. She and Pete teach in Va. Beach. Amy sent news that Bobbie Burton married in December. Sherry Sydnor is enjoying teaching in Saluda, Va. Anne Rigby, with the National Gallery of Art, was in charge of the December showing of "European Vision of America." This exhibition, a major bi-centennial loan, consists of works featuring the European perception of America from late 15th century till late 19th century. Meg Mullen Hughes and husband, Paul, are attending Ohio State University. Paul is doing graduate work in electrical engineering and Meg will receive a masters in social work in June. They look forward to returning to the Fredericksburg area after completion of studies.

My husband, Chuck and I have bought a home and are teaching at the same high school. He teaches math and German and I am still with Spanish. Remember to make your pledge. Our local alumni chapter is very active with the annual Telethon coming up in March-April. I would hope our class could make some of our sister's! And return to MWC in April for Homecoming. You wouldn't believe the changes in just two years!
